Foreword

Our schools can justify themselves only to the degree in which they aid our youth to preserve and develop desirable moral and civic traits. In the attainment of these ends the school library is a highly important factor. Through it the youth may be directed toward reading materials that stimulate desirable interests and emotions; helped to set up an appreciation of the need for facts in determining the truth; taught the elements of research; assisted to establish continuing interests and habits that contribute to a worthy use of leisure time.

This is one of a series of three bulletins dealing with various phases of the school library prepared under the direction of the following committee: Mary Louise Abraham, Librarian, Department of Public Instruction; Clara Bragg, Librarian, State Teachers College, Shippensburg; William H. Bristow, Chief, Education Bureau, Department of Public Instruction; Mai Clinedinst, Librarian, York Public Library; John Carr Duff, Principal, Benjamin Franklin Junior High School, Uniontown; John L. Finafrock, Superintendent, Franklin County Schools, Chambersburg; Mary Foster, Head, School Division, Carnegie Library, Pittsburgh; Helen A. Ganser, Director of Library Training, State Teachers College, Millersville; Ada F. Liveright, Librarian, Board of Education, Philadelphia; Maud Minster, Librarian, Altoona High School; Phebe Pomeroy, Librarian, Peabody High School, Pittsburgh; Helen Purcell, Director, Elementary and Kindergarten Education, Department of Public Instruction; M. Ruth Sellers, Teacher-Librarian, Lemoyne High School.

This bulletin, which deals with the kindergarten and first eight grades of our school system, was prepared by Miss Mary E. Foster, Head, School Division, Carnegie Library, Pittsburgh, and Miss Helen Purcell, Director of Elementary and Kindergarten Education, State Department of Public Instruction. Special thanks are also due to Miss Elizabeth Rankin, Supervisor of Kindergartens, Pittsburgh, for valuable assistance in the preparation of the list of materials suggested for the kindergarten.

Books for use in the school library must be selected with care both in the interest of economy and efficiency. The titles in this list have been chosen both with reference to their general value, and because they make a definite contribution to the course of study. A list of this kind must necessarily be limited, and may omit equally good books. In the selection of books it is suggested that this list, and other standard lists such as those given on page 14 be consulted. Attention is also called to the fact that the prices of books constantly change. Prices given are those in operation when this bulletin was being organized.

James N. Rule,
Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Elementary School Libraries

PART ONE

STANDARDS FOR ORGANIZATION

I. The Librarian or Teacher Librarian

A. The Small School

In small elementary schools the libary books will usually be organized as classroom libraries. This will impose upon the individual teacher the responsibility for developing library work with the pupils in her class. If the work of the school is on a departmental basis, each teacher will have a classroom library to meet the needs of the various subjects included in the course of study.

Even though the school has only small classroom collections of books, good book service can be rendered by the teacher.

It is essential that a classroom teacher who is responsible for administering a classroom library have some elementary training in the use of books. She should also be able to carry out a simple system of organization of the classroom library that will insure the return of all books taken out. Such a system also impresses upon the pupil the necessity for care of library materials.

B. The Larger School

In the larger elementary schools where a certificated librarian is employed, this librarian will have an opportunity to work with the various pupils of the school at stated intervals. Such a librarian should possess the following desirable qualities:

- Book knowledge and appreciation
- Conviction of importance of school library in the school life
- Ability to work with other teachers
- Successful teaching experience or work in a public library with children
- Understanding of child psychology
- Adequate professional library training.

II. The Library Room

A. Classroom Library

In the small elementary school where a separate library room is not possible or is not feasible, a corner of the room or other space should be set aside for the classroom library. This space should express an attractive and comfortable library atmosphere. Appropriate shelves for books, storage space, and a table and chairs should be provided. Provision for a wide slanting shelf for periodicals and large picture books should also be made.

B. Separate Library Room

The library room should be located on the second floor to the center of the building, easily accessible to the pupils. In a large school where a separate library room is provided for the lower grades, the room should be located near the lower grade rooms on the first floor. All library rooms should be well lighted and large enough to seat a class at tables with plenty of space for movement and at least one extra table for reference workers from other classes. It is desirable that work rooms with running water and enclosed storage space be provided with all elementary library rooms. In smaller schools where it is not possible to provide a separate work room, running water is necessary.

III. Library Equipment

A. Minimum Essentials

Library equipment for library rooms in various sized schools is included in the summary at the end of Part One. The following are minimum essentials:

Shelving Tables
Chairs
Card catalog
Vertical file for pamphlets, clippings and pictures
Bulletin boards
Magazine racks
Desk and chair for library teacher
Floor covering Typewriter
Portable blackboard.

B. Size and Amount

The size of equipment and the amount to be provided for various groups are also indicated on the summary sheet.

IV. Books and Periodicals

A. Appropriation for Books

An initial appropriation should be provided to insure an average of at least three books for each pupil enrolled in the kindergarten and first six grades and five in grades seven and eight. The average cost of good books for children is $1.50 each. After the basic collection has been provided, an annual appropriation of at least 50 cents per pupil per year should be made to the library. When encyclopedias or other expensive materials are to be purchased an additional appropriation should be made for the purpose.

B. Technical Work in Connection with an Elementary School Library

1. How to order books

   a. A satisfactory book order implies the inclusion of the following: Author, Title, Edition, Publisher, Address, Date and Price.

b. The order for books may be placed through local book firms, jobbers, or publishers.[1]

c. Duplicate order lists should be kept preferably on cards. When a book is received the appropriate card should be checked.

2. Accession and shelf list record

a. An accession book is a record numbered consecutively of all the books added to the library. (This type of book may be ordered from a library supply house.)

b. A shelf list is a record on 3 x 5 cards with classification number, author, title, publisher, date, and accession number where an accession book is used.

The following is a Sample Shelf List Card from American Library Association Handbook for Teacher-Librarians used for both shelf list and accession record.

These cards are arranged by their class numbers and alphabetically by author under these numbers. Cards representing fiction are arranged alphabetically by author. This record makes a flexible check for the annual or biannual inventory. Where an accession book is not used, the record of the book's history also belongs on the Shelf List Cards. In many large libraries an accession book is not considered necessary.

[1] It is recommended that wherever possible books with reenforced bindings be ordered. These reenforced bindings may be secured from firms specializing in such work.

3. Preparing the book for use

   a. Stamp the name of the library in at least two places in book.

   b. Open properly and cut pages if necessary.

   c. If an accession number is used, place in the bottom margin on the second page following the title page and on one other page; same page used in every book.

   d. Paste pocket and date slip in back or front of book, preferably back.

   e. Write author and title, and accession, or copy number on the book pocket and book card.

4. How to give class numbers

See page 10 for abbreviated list of Dewey Decimal classification.

   a. Separate fiction and non-fiction.

   b. Classify non-fiction books according to subject, using Dewey Decimal classification for assigning numbers.

   c. Put this classification number on the back of the books (in ink) at a uniform distance from the bottom of the book. For doing this lettering an electric stylus is recommended. Shellac prevents wear on these numbers.

   d. Put the classification number on the back of the title page, on book pocket, and on book card.

   e. Make author, title and subject cards for each book of non-fiction; author and title cards for fiction.

   f. Arrange the classed books on the shelves by numbers, if several have the same number, then alphabetically by author under the number.

   g. Arrange fiction on the shelves alphabetically by author.

   h. Label shelves.

5. In case books are circulating to the homes, the children's names should be written on the book card, and the date the book is due stamped on book card and on the date slip. The book card is filed by class number under date due at the teacher's desk and replaced in the book pocket when book is returned. Books loaned to teachers or children during school hours are always charged in the same way.

6. Items necessary to catalog an elementary school library:

   See Manual of Cataloging and Classification for Elementary School Libraries by M. F. Johnson, H. W. Wilson Company, 958 University Avenue, New York City, fifty cents.

   Library Manual, Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction.

   Smith, E. C. Subject headings for children's books. American Library Association, 520 N. Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois. $3.50.

7. The following list will be helpful from the standpoint of book selection:

Booklist, published monthly, American Library Association, 520 N. Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, $2.50 per year.

The Children's Catalog, H. W. Wilson Company, 958 University Avenue, New York City, $4.00, with Supplements.

Graded list of Books for Children compiled by Nora Beust, American Library Association, 520 N. Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, $2.00.

The Horn Book, published quarterly by Bookshop for Boys and Girls, Boston, Mass., $1.00 per year.

Realms of Gold by Bertha Mahoney, Doubleday, Doran & Co., Garden City, New York, $5.00.

The Right Book for the Right Child; a graded buying list of children's books, John Day, New York City, $2.50.

V. Library Instruction

A. Throughout the Child's School Life, Public Library Contacts, Care of Books from the Standpoint of Good Citizenship and the Enjoyment and Use of the School Library should be Emphasized.

B. The Following References will be Helpful:

Denver Public Schools, Denver, Colorado, Library Instruction: V. 1, Elementary School, grades 1-6; V. 2, Junior and Senior High School, grades 7-12. $1.25 each.

Detroit Public Schools, Detroit, Michigan, Course of Study in use for Books V. 1, and V. 2. Price $.60 each.

Fargo, Lucille, Program for Elementary School Library Service, American Library Association, 520 N. Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois. $2.25.

Library Manual, Pennsylvania State Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg.

New York (City) Board of Education, Guide for Librarians in Elementary and Junior High Schools.

C. The Following Points of Emphasis are Suggested for Each of the Years of the Elementary School Period:

1. Grade One

   a. Instruction in the care of books.

   b. Development of suitable library habits such as, consideration for others, courtesy, conformity with rules, development of desirable study habits.

   c. Use of picture books.

   d. Appreciation of books through story telling.

2. Grade Two
   a. Review of Grade One work.
   b. Direction of pupil's choice of books for enjoyment in reading.
   c. Picture book study.
   d. Further development of library habits.
   e. Telling of fables and fairy tales.
3. Grade Three
   a. Study of alphabetical arrangment by names to show fiction arrangment on shelves.
   b. Training in the replacement of books on the shelves.
   c. Emphasis on membership in public library.
   d. Appreciation of poetry.
   e. Places on shelves where pupils can find books of type desired.
4. Grade Four
   a. Development of use and meaning of the parts of the book as, title page, table of contents, index.
   b. Simple use of the dictionary.
   c. Classification system: Develop by guides on the shelves and finding books by subject groupings.
5. Grade Five
   a. Use of the encyclopedia.
   b. Use of card catalog.
   c. Classification, ten main classes.
   d. Hero stories.
   e. Illustrators and their contributions.
6. Grade Six
   a. Bibliographies of reference materials traced in relation to course of study needs.
   b. Direction of reading interests to include biographers, historians, poets, and other groups of writers.
   c. Book reviews emphasizing background, author's preparation for writing, plot and character interests.
   d. Discrimination in the selection of books.

VI. Cooperation with Other Agencies

Supplementary resources should be utilized to the fullest extent. Active cooperation with local public library and county or State library agencies should be established.

In cases where much of the library materials used in the classroom are provided by a public library, methods for the distribution of such materials should be worked out by the teacher and the librarian in charge. In addition, whatever the resources of the school library may be, the use of libraries in the community should be set up as a habit. The school library is necessary for the best education of our youth, but it falls short at its most vital point if it fails to set up the habit of seeking all available library opportunities as a help in problem-solving and a source for the use of leisure time.

SUMMARY OF STANDARDS FOR LIBRARY SERVICE IN ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

Group	I	II	III	IV	V
Approximate Enrollment	70–150	150–300	300–500	500–1000	1000 or more
I. 1. Library teacher	Classroom collection of books administered by teachers.	Same as I but with time schedule for pupil use of books.	Scheduled program for use of library room with teachers taking classes to library for reading, reference and library instruction. Library responsibility divided among all the teachers.	Full-time certificated librarian with children scheduled to room twice a week; also before and after school and noon opening, and a possibility of individual attendance from other classes when work in library is necessary.	Trained teacher librarian. School librarian should be jointly responsible with classroom teachers for administering collections.
2. Service	Enthusiastic appreciation of the possibilities in books and love for them; an intimate knowledge of books and of course of study needs, pupil growth, and teaching methods.
II. Library Room 1. Room Allotment and location	Library corner in classroom.	Library corner in classroom plus centralized book room where books can be stored and from which they may be shared.	Library room with centralized collection of all books available for work and recreational use, located preferably on 2nd floor to the center of the building.	Equipment identical with facilities outlined for Group III.	Equipment identical with facilities for Group IV. Library rooms for upper and lower grades, unless class room libraries are provided for lower grades.
2. Storage and work room	Cupboard or supply cabinet with lock.	Cupboard or supply cabinet with lock.	Teacher's desk with locked drawer space. Also cupboard or supply cabinet with lock.	Work room with running water, table, chair, shelving, cabinet with lock.	Same as for library rooms for upper and lower grades for Group IV.

BOOKS

BESKOW, ELSA. Pelle's new suit. Harper. $2.00.
A simple realistic story for little children with delightful illustrations showing how Pelle earned a new suit of clothes. St. Louis.

BROCK, E. L. The runaway sardine. Knopf. $2.00.
Picture story-book of an adventurous little sardine named Zacharie who lived in Brittany with an old fisherman and his wife. "In their kitchen they had a yellow cat, a black hen and a sardine in a tub."

BROCK, E. L. To market! to market! Knopf. $1.75.
A nonsensical tale of a Dutch Duck and a Dutch Mouse, who lived in a little black house by a big black barn in Zeeland. Having found a small silver coin, they decide to travel to the market where the Mouse buys a fat yellow cheese and the Duck a neat little fish. The text is hand-lettered, and the drawings are done in vivid blue or bright orange combined with black.

CAMPBELL, RUTH. The cat whose whiskers slipped. Volland. $1.25.

*CLARK, MARGERY. Poppy seed cakes. Doubleday. $2.00.
"Poppy seed cakes is an Old World picture book of great charm. Maud and Miska Petersham have made fascinating drawings in color and black and white for Margery Clark's gay little stories of Andrewshek, Erminka, Auntie Katuchka and the goat which gave the milk for the poppy seed cakes. The make-up of the book is distinctive, and it is small enough to be practicable for use in libraries." A. C. Moore in Books (N. Y. Herald Tribune).

*DALGLIESH, ALICE. The little wooden farmer, and The story of the jungle pool. Macmillan. $1.00.
Many pictures in gay colors and others in black and white.

*FLACK, MARJORIE. Angus and the ducks. Doubleday. $1.00.
An amusing and satisfying picture-book of a little Scotch terrier who was "Curious about many places and many things."

GAG, WANDA. The funny thing. Coward. $1.50.
Once there was a funny thing, an "aminal" who ate dolls, but Bobo soon taught him to eat jum-jills so that his tail grew so long he had to sit on the top of a mountain and curl it around the sides. A nonsense picture-book.

GAG, WANDA. Millions of cats. Coward. $1.50.
Amusing picture-book about a little old man and a little old woman who both wanted a cat. The husband goes searching for one, and what does he find?

GRISHINA, N. G. Peter Pea. Stokes. $1.50.
A Russian tale about a little boy no bigger than a pea, who journeyed to the king's palace and there won the love of the beautiful princess. Attractive illustrations.

HEWARD, CONSTANCE. Ameliar-Anne and the green umbrella. Macrae. $.65.
A little book about a little girl who tried to bring home from a tea party enough cakes for the other five Stigginses. Pictures on every page, some colored. Children's Catalog.

HEWARD, CONSTANCE. Twins and Tabiffa. Macrae. $1.50.
This most engaging tale tells how the black cat, Tabiffa, won everyone's praise by rousing the family the night of the fire. Told for very little children and made attractive by many illustrations in color and repeated black and white pictures. Booklist.

HOGAN, INEZ. The white kitten and the blue plate. Macmillan. $1.00.
In story and picture tells how the white kitten and the blue plate journey together through the wide world.

How the animals helped an old lady who was turned out of her home.

MILNE, A. A. Winnie-the-Pooh. Dutton. $2.00.
Here are delightful nonsense stories about Edward Bear, better known as Winnie-the-Pooh,—how he went a-hunting with Piglet and nearly caught a woozle and how he and Christopher Robin led a famous expedition to the North Pole—

"And Rabbit's relations all went, too,
And where the pole was none of them knew.
Sing hey for Owl and Rabbit and all."

The amusing pictures of Eeyore, the melancholy donkey, Kanga, and little Roo, and the other animals will be enjoyed as well as the stories. A good book to read aloud.

MITCHELL, L. S. Here and now. Dutton. $2.00.
Experimental stories written for the children of city and country schools.

MOESCHLIN, ELSA. The red horse. Coward. $1.75.
A story about a gay wooden horse, belonging to a little boy named Peter, that grew and took his master for a wonderful ride. The pictures, very colorful and original, have humor in them and action, and a pleasing child-like quality. The paper and print are excellent but the binding is unsatisfactory for library use. Booklist.

MORROW, MRS. E. R. The painted pig. Knopf. $2.00.
Bright colored pictures tell of the efforts of Pita, a little Mexican Indian girl and her brother Pedro to find a toy pig. The story is by the wife of the former ambassador to Mexico. (1930).
